Dear Ukrainian Friends

The University of Wolverhampton and beyond we are all hugely concerned about the dreadful conflict in Ukraine and the action the Russian Government is and continues to take there.

Our thoughts are with the people of Ukraine and the academic communities who are affected by the current situation including those impacted in the surrounding countries.

We condemn in the strongest possible terms this aggression and call on all academic communities and universities around the world, to do the same.

As ever we remain committed to working in partnership and are ready to look for ways and means to assist the Ukrainian Academic Community through these challenging times now and in the future.

Please be reassured you remain in our thoughts and prayers.

Yours faithfully
